thought these Events would be this much fun!"

It's what we hear from STEMTech Distributors all the time...
Isn't it time for you and your guests to find out that they're right?

STEMTech Events are second-to-none. Whether it's a full weekend of business training and character development at the Director Leadership Conference, a day-long jam-packed Super Saturday with George and Dr. Donna Antarr, an inspiring two-hour STEMTech Showcase with Bryan Noar and Heather Livingston, or regional/local meetings with Field Leaders as hosts...

You will come away from STEMTech Events invigorated, motivated and prepared to take your business to heights you have yet to imagine! Take guests with you, too, whenever appropriate - It's one of the best ways to build your business!

We update STEMTech's Events Calendar often, so check stemtechbiz.com or teamstemtech.com regularly to make sure you don't miss an Event near you.

Learn how to grow a successful business, and

JOIN THE FUN!

Come on over to our neck of the woods...
Spend a Fabulous Weekend next Spring in the Beautiful Pacific Northwest.
You'll love it just as much as we do!

PLAN AHEAD!

It's not too early to put STEMTech's Fourth Annual Convention on your calendar!

Set your course TODAY for the Anaheim Marriott in Anaheim, California, the weekend of July 30-August 1.

Be there for the exciting announcements, the top-notch training, the networking and camaraderie, and those thrilling STEMTech Surprises! Meet Ray, Christian and all STEMTech's talented Executives, and chat with the members of the StemGem Team. You'll renew old acquaintances, make lots of new friends, and learn business building techniques and strategies from Top Leaders who want to share their "secrets of success" with you.

Register today... Call Distributor Services for details!

And don't forget the 2-for-1 Convention Special... New Distributors enrolling with the FastStart or Leadership Pack (beginning April 1, 2009) are eligible to receive a 2-for-1 voucher to attend their first STEMTech Convention ($259 value)!

CJ & Tori Czencz

Colorado

After receiving severe burns from boiling water emitted by an oil field's high-pressure wand, CJ endured months of painful medical procedures that left his foot badly scarred. Then when the economy's downturn left him without a job, just when Tori was pregnant with their third child, CJ was worried. To the couple's rescue came their friend Phyl Franklin, who had them watch the STEMTech DVD and explained how the opportunity could offer them supplemental income. "We started taking StemEnhance," CJ says, "and within three weeks the scar on my foot went from ugly purple to light brown, and it shrank in size. I got really excited!!" When Tori also had good results quickly, the Czenczes knew it was time to share the news and build a business.

Since then CJ and Tori have pulled out all the stops. Using the Internet, their own WealthBuilders site and the new stemtechbiz.com website, CJ says he is now "fulltime with STEMTech and I'm not looking back." Noting that promptness is the key to success with online networking, he says, "On our WealthBuilders site we have people fill out a 4-question survey. The minute we receive a survey, we make contact, and people are impressed." From June's STEMTech Showcase in Grand Junction and Super Saturday with George and Dr. Donna Antarr, CJ and Tori have gobbled up every bit of training they can, and Tori says, "George tells us not to ever stop recruiting to keep up the momentum we are building... and we've only just begun!"

Even a third trimester pregnancy cannot stop this couple: "The doctor says ok, so we'll be at the October Director Leadership Conference," Tori says. "We can't miss it!"

Dr. George Eufemio Yolanda "Yolly" Santos

Philippines

In preparation for September's exciting Pre-Launch in the Philippines, Triple Diamond Eugene Banez and his team in Virginia went into overdrive with STEMTech's Virtual Sign-Up program in that island country. Late in the summer, Eugene and Dr. René Alvir traveled to the Philippines to meet with their Virtual (Pending) Distributors and to make additional contacts.

As young doctors, George Eufemio and René Alvir had been medical residents together at the University of the Philippines Medical Center (UP-PGH). After further training in Surgical Oncology at Sloan-Kettering in New York, Dr. Eufemio became a respected surgeon in his native country and Chairman of the UP-PGH Department of Surgery, and he is well-connected with both businessmen and politicians in the Philippines. Dr. Eufemio was pleased to renew his friendship with Dr. Alvir and to learn about StemEnhance and the impending opening of STEMTech in the Philippines. With René's help, George has been avidly recruiting his colleagues, friends and acquaintances, making good use of the Virtual Sign-Up program. At the Pre-Launch September 19, Drs. Eufemio and Alvir shared the excitement of their Pending Distributors, who were transformed into full-fledged STEMTech distributors almost within the blink of an eye!

Another leader in the STEMTech Filipino market, Yolanda "Yolly" Santos, is a real estate broker, insurance underwriter and financial planner who was elected as First Councilor for the city of Bustos Bulacan and also served temporarily as Vice Mayor. When Congresswoman Lorna Silverio returned to the Philippines from a U.S. vacation in 2008, she introduced Yolly to StemEnhance. "At the time, my husband and I were in the middle of our quest for a natural way to practice wellness," Yolly says, explaining that they are both using StemEnhance with good results. She has introduced the product and opportunity to their friends, doctors, business partners, clients, networkers and business builders, all with two goals: "To help others achieve natural wellness and to achieve Triple Diamond soon after our Pre-Launch."

THE GROWTH AND EXCITEMENT GO ON

We have had quite a busy few months since our last HealthSpan edition! Not only have we unveiled our dynamic, brand-new website, but we have enjoyed successful Pre-Launches in Germany and the Philippines and an official Launch in the fast-growing market of South Africa. As I write this, we are also in the middle of opening Australia and New Zealand as well, and later this month we will be celebrating the official Launch in Mexico.

Our aggressive international expansion strategy that began in 2007 has provided STEMTech with a nice balance of growth, with many of our markets doing quite well as others have been more significantly impacted by the economic recession. We look forward to a very strong 4th quarter and a vibrant 2010 as the recession passes and we see a re-energized expansion in all STEMTech markets worldwide.

A big congratulations to our newest Triple Diamond Directors in the United States and Malaysia and a special thank you to Triple Diamond Directors George and Cherry Gorostiza for going above and beyond the call of duty, assisting us in all of our preparations for opening our office in Manila.

Now we look forward to an exciting Director Leadership Conference later this month in Minnesota, where we know every participant will make meaningful contributions and take away tremendous knowledge and growth. Looking ahead toward year-end, let's make the last few months of 2009 a time filled with proactive enthusiasm, as we share the STEMTech products and opportunity with all those looking for enhanced wellness and prosperity.

To your growth and happiness,

Ray C. Carter, Jr.
President & CEO

STEM CELLS AND THE MEDIA

STEMTech is slowly entering in a new phase of its development. The concept our company has been developing and sharing -- regarding the natural role of stem cells in the body and the health benefits of supporting the release of stem cells from the bone marrow -- has become increasingly recognized here in the United States and around the world.

This year I have had opportunities to discuss this topic in lectures to medical professionals and in televised interviews on the world stage. Last February I lectured at the well-known Pantai Hospital in Malaysia. In May in an interview for the international Hispanic TV program "Análisis Mundial" and on several other Hispanic news programs, I discussed stem cells in general and their role in the natural renewal system of the body. In July, my brief appearance on an important South African morning news program was followed by a 30-minute interview on "3Talk with Noleen Maholwana-Sangu," who is known as the "Oprah Winfrey of South Africa." I am gratified and humbled by these opportunities to share the news about stem cell science with audiences around the world.

And soon, the long-awaited book I wrote on this whole concept is about to be published, triggering other media events here in the United States. This will be an unequalled opportunity for each of you -- STEMTech Distributors who have developed a strong Distributor base -- as your business will be able to benefit from the momentum generated by a wave of media coverage about our work with the science of stem cells, the natural renewal system of the body!

Very best to all,

Christian Drapeau
Chief Science Officer

Phillip Adidjaja
California

Trained as a medical doctor in his native Indonesia, Phillip worked in a medical laboratory once he and his family relocated to the United States. In 2007, a very good friend and colleague, Dr. Julia Go, introduced him to StemEnhance®, calling it a “breakthrough natural botanical extract that supports vibrant health.” When he experienced very welcome relief from the discomfort of a long-standing problem with his skin, Phillip knew he had to share the news about StemEnhance with others. With one-on-one meetings, conference calls and gatherings in hotels and homes, Phillip began reaching out to family, friends, and people everywhere. Phillip says, “If I believe that they have poor health – or if they just want to maintain good health – I share the product first. If they are mostly interested in increasing their income, I explain how they can make money while helping others with their health issues.”

Phillip has made great use of the virtual sign-up program, now with an organization of more than 1500 pending distributors, mostly in his native Indonesia, Australia and the Philippines. (His Filipino and Australian groups are active distributors since their Pre-Launches!) He says he appreciates the help he has received from VP of Asian Markets Jonathan Lim and Dr. Julia, “who taught me about the excellent compensation plan and always encourages me.” And he is especially grateful for “the hard work and talent of Harry Wu and Siu Tjin Tjhin,” two superstars in his downline who are developing and training huge organizations in Southeast Asia.

“From STEMTech's Annual Conventions and the Director Leadership Conferences I have learned how to be successful in this business,” Phillip says: “Focus on teamwork, concentrate on achieving your goals, and never give up!”

Awilda Rubio
Puerto Rico

When her friend Josephine Vergne told her about StemEnhance and its ability to help the body renew itself, Awilda thought first of her husband Jorge, who had been suffering from the consequences of an age-related challenge that had robbed him of his quality of life. Both Awilda and Jorge were thrilled to see dramatic improvements in Jorge's health after a short time on StemEnhance and Awilda became a STEMTech distributor so she could share the product and Jorge's story with others.

That was in April, 2007. Since then, Awilda says, “I have not stopped developing the business.” Her favorite tools to educate people and share the news about STEMTech's products and opportunity are the DVDs, one-on-one meetings and hotel meetings. She says, “Any place is a good place to find prospects,” explaining, “I talk to people in the line at the supermarket, the bank or the pharmacy... anyplace I can. There are people everywhere who can benefit from STEMTech's products and who have family and friends who can be helped with them, too.”

Awilda's organization has truly gone global. She says, “Today I have distributors in Mexico, Colombia, and the United States, and pending distributors in the Dominican Republic and Spain.” As her organization continues to grow, Awilda says, “I feel so proud and happy about the accomplishments my associates and I are making here and in the world marketplace.” She points out that STEMTech's tools make building a business “such an easy job that anyone can do it. I have only a 'part-time' job [doing STEMTech] that leaves me time for my family. This is great!”

NEW StemEnhance Brochure!

Designed in vivid colors and containing a clear and concise message in easy-to-read style, STEMTech's new brochure is a Prospect Magnet! Hand this beautiful new brochure to people you meet and see them go from “What in the world are stem cells?” to “I want some of that!” in minutes. Inside, the brochure shows exactly how stem cells work in your body, and how StemEnhance can increase both the number and activity of circulating stem cells. Striking graphics of the “25% Study” chart, the Natural Renewal System diagram and an actual adult stem cell make this brochure so compelling!

Foo Yit Yan
Malaysia

A successful business owner in the capital city of Kuala Lumpur, Madam Foo says it was the excellent results her mother enjoyed from AFA Extract™* that spurred her to become a STEMTech distributor. "My mother's frail health kept her from venturing out of the house on her own, so this limited her quality of life," Madam Foo says. "Since she has been taking AFA Extract, she can move more surely, and she is much happier."

Madam Foo enrolled as a STEMTech distributor in the last days of 2008, when her close friend, Triple Diamond Harry Wu, told her about the product and the opportunity. Within six months, she had joined Harry as a Triple Diamond. As she builds a successful STEMTech business, Madam Foo says, "I believe that STEMTech's DVDs and the Business Development Training are essential tools for business builders," adding that one-on-one meetings are her preferred way to share AFA Extract and the STEMTech opportunity. Living only a stone's throw away from the Kuala Lumpur office, Madam Foo drops into the office often and always attends the weekly opportunity and training meetings with guests. She is especially grateful for the help and support she has received from General Manager Benjamin Yap as she develops her local team.

Madam Foo is extending her organization globally, too. Her virtual organization reaches literally around the world - from China, India and Singapore to Brunei, Norway and Brazil. Last month she welcomed to her organization a large group of her newly "active" distributors in the Philippines, and she is currently welcoming her now-active Australian and New Zealand distributors, as they celebrate their exciting Pre-Launches. Madam Foo says, "Our global opportunity is only beginning!"

* StemEnhance is called AFA Extract in Malaysia.

Marcus Loo Chia Shien
Malaysia

It was the solid stem cell science he learned about in a local presentation by Christian Drapeau that both amazed Marcus and compelled him to become involved with AFA Extract* and the STEMTech opportunity. Marcus says, "I figured that if AFA Extract could do even 10% of what I heard, it was an amazing scientific breakthrough, so I tried the product." When the persistent discomfort in his knee and ankle faded away overnight, Marcus says, "That was the beginning of my conversion from total skepticism to complete faith and passion for this product."

A former accountant who left the ledgers to pursue a career marketing wellness products to health professionals and pharmacies, Marcus says that his background in the wellness industry suits him perfectly for his STEMTech business. He likes to use STEMTech's brochures and DVDs in one-on-one meetings, and says, "I never let anyone slip by me without having the opportunity to try AFA Extract." Everyday, he shares his personal testimony with people like himself: "Those who have the same interest and passion for health and wellness, and people who are looking to find a good business opportunity." He follows up faithfully with people who are trying the product and with his local distributors. "All of us need personal support and training," he points out, noting that the training he enjoyed at the Kuala Lumpur Super Sunday has guided him well.

Marcus is grateful to General Manager Benjamin Yap, his upline James Loo and to Michael Wan, a distributor in his downline who has been "selfless in giving local talks for both our distributors and crossline." Marcus is also making good use of the Virtual Enrollment program, extending his organization onto four continents. He says, "My organization is growing vibrantly, with new recruits joining practically on a daily basis!"

Why Enhance Your Stem Cell Physiology?

Your adult stem cells are your body's "master" cells - they have the ability to become virtually any type of cell in the body. Recent studies have found that stem cells can become heart cells, liver cells, pancreatic cells, muscle cells, brain cells... even cells in the eyes, the joints and more!

For a number of reasons—such as growing older (beyond your mid-30's), stress (physical, emotional, environmental) and poor diet—your stem cell physiology may become compromised... causing a decline in your body's ability to renew itself.

What is StemEnhance®?

StemEnhance is the world's first-ever natural Stem Cell Enhancer... the only nutritional supplement in the world proven to support the natural release of your own adult stem cells from your bone marrow.*

StemEnhance consists of a patented natural 5:1 concentrate of an edible aquatic botanical known as Aphanizomenon Flos-aquae (AFA for short) that contains two proprietary components, Migratase® and Mobilin™.

AFA grows in a unique, pristine environment in the Northwestern United States and it has been safely consumed for over 3 decades.

Adult Stem Cells... Your Key to Optimal Health!

There are two basic types of stem cells, and it's important to understand the difference:

Embryonic Stem Cells

These are extracted from 8-10 day old embryos - that's why there's so much controversy surrounding their research and use.

Adult Stem Cells

These are present in your body from the day you are born and are naturally produced in your bone marrow. Recent research has found that they are at the core of your body's natural renewal system.

Results of many scientific studies indicate that increasing the number of circulating adult stem cells is probably the single most important thing you can do to maintain optimal health.

What StemEnhance Does

As shown in a double-blind placebo-controlled crossover study, published in the highly respected peer-reviewed journal, Cardiovascular Revascularization Medicine (Aug-Sept 2007), taking just 2 capsules of StemEnhance supports an average 25% increase in the number of naturally released adult stem cells.

That's equivalent to about 3 to 4 million new stem cells in circulation—making StemEnhance one of the greatest wellness discoveries of our time!

Who Should Take StemEnhance?

Anyone wanting to enjoy optimal health...

Anyone wanting optimal fitness and performance...

In fact, everyone!

But there's only one way to understand the true benefits of this amazing product...

TRY IT FOR YOURSELF!

If you are pregnant, nursing, under a doctor's care or on medication, you should always consult your health professional before beginning this or any other nutritional supplement program.

A Brief Course in SCIENTIFIC TERMINOLOGY

by Christian Drapeau, MSc

AS YOU KNOW, STEMTECH IS A SCIENCE-BASED COMPANY. IT IS SIMPLY A QUESTION OF PHILOSOPHY. WHATEVER WE SAY ABOUT OUR PRODUCT, WE HAVE THE SOLID SCIENTIFIC DATA TO BACK IT UP. THIS MAY SEEM ELEMENTAL, AS ANY CLAIM SHOULD ALWAYS BE BASED ON SOLID DATA, BUT UNFORTUNATELY, VERY FEW DIETARY SUPPLEMENTS ARE ACTUALLY BASED ON SOLID SCIENCE. TOO OFTEN THE RESEARCH UTILIZED TO BACK UP A PRODUCT IS BORROWED AND RARELY APPLIES TO THAT PRODUCT. THIS IS ONE THING THAT MAKES STEMTECH A STRONG AND UNIQUE COMPANY: THE SCIENCE WE USE IS OUR SCIENCE, DEVELOPED USING OUR PRODUCT.

Because of this emphasis, a lot of the information we share contains specific scientific terms like “double-blind study,” “triple-blind study” or even “placebo-controlled randomized double-blind study,” or terms like in vivo, in vitro and epidemiological studies. For the scientist, these terms are simple and pretty clear, but the lay person may not always understand exactly what we are talking about. As we use these terms in our literature, it is probably helpful to demystify some of them.

First, the concept of “double-blind”: When we first published a summary of our main study, we called it a “triple-blind” study. Rapidly, many people questioned that terminology, stating that a “triple-blind” study did not exist, that the use of this unfamiliar term was affecting our credibility; so we changed the term we used to “double-blind” study. But it was and is a triple-blind study. The word “blind” means that someone in the study does not know whether a participant is receiving a test product (in our case StemEnhance®) or a placebo. In a single-blind study, it is normally the participant who does not know if he/she receives the product or the placebo. In a double-blind study, it is both the participant and the scientist administering and analyzing the test who do not know who gets which capsule. In a triple-blind study, the “blind” aspect further includes the person statistically analyzing the data. Therefore, “triple-blind” is the strongest of the study approaches, as it prevents all forms of bias when testing a product. These studies are also often referred to as “placebo-controlled,” although this is obviously redundant, since a double-blind study always involves a placebo. And any “blind” study is said to be “randomized” when the people receiving the placebo and the test ingredient are chosen randomly.

What about studies that are not “blind”? It is important to mention that a study that is not blind in any way is referred to as an “open label,” as everyone can see what they are taking and studying.

Two other terms that are often used with scientific studies are in vivo and in vitro. When we refer to Latin, these terms become self-evident. Vivo means alive while vitro means glass. So an in vivo study means that the study has been performed in a live organism -- an animal or a person -- and an in vitro study means that the study was performed in a test tube in the laboratory.

Likewise, two terms that we often use to describe the timeframe of a study are “acute” and “chronic” (or “long-term”). These terms are commonly used every day; but in the context of a study, the term “acute” refers to an the effect reported in a study that took place immediately after the consumption of a product. Conversely, the term “chronic” or “long-term” refers to the build-up of an effect over time.

Finally, the term “mechanism of action” refers to the specific biochemical interaction through which a product produces its effect on the body. For example, with regard to StemEnhance, the mechanism of action is that StemEnhance contains a blocker of L-selectin, a protein playing an important role in the release/residence of stem cells in the bone marrow.

The main study done with StemEnhance is a randomized placebo-controlled double-blind (technically triple-blind) acute in vivo study on the effect of one gram of StemEnhance on the number of circulating stem cells.

So all this being said, the main study done with StemEnhance is a randomized placebo-controlled double-blind (technically triple-blind) acute in vivo study on the effect of one gram of StemEnhance on the number of circulating stem cells. The study is an acute study because the effect takes place within a few hours of consumption and does not build up; a person gets the benefits anytime he or she consumes two capsules. The actual publication of our study [in the Journal of Cardiovascular Revascularization Medicine] also describes in vitro work done to explain the mechanism of action.

The study on StemFLO® consists of two parts: acute and long-term, both in vivo in humans. The acute part is a randomized placebo-controlled double-blind study on the effect of StemFLO on the blood's ability to digest fibrin, as well as other parameters of blood physiology. The other part is a long-term four-week open label study on the effect of StemFLO on various parameters of cardiovascular physiology.

These two studies, along with other studies that have been done or are in preparation, have ALL been done on our specific products, StemEnhance and StemFLO. You can feel pride and confidence, therefore, that STEMTech is one of the very few science-based companies in our industry. When you share these products with others, you know that each has solid science behind it.

Bruce Higgins

Triple Diamond Oklahoma

Bruce Higgins is a great believer in the power of positive thinking coupled with decisive action. “Three years ago,” he says, “I lived in a 900-square foot condo and drove a worn-out van to work everyday.” When Bill Lohmeyer called and asked how he was doing, Bruce said he was “surviving.” Bill said, “Life needs to be about more than survival,” and he told Bruce about STEMTech. Right then, Bruce knew it was time to put into practice the principles he had been reading about in books on the power of the subconscious mind, and he “took the risk” to start building a STEMTech business. “Thoughts are things,” he explains, “and they can help you or hurt you. I decided to focus on only positive thoughts, and look where they have brought me!” Nowadays, Bruce lives in a beautiful 2400-square-foot home and drives a BMW (with STEMTech paying the lease), that has an attention-getting, lead-generating STEMTech wrap. Everywhere he goes, Bruce shares his positive outlook and the STEMTech opportunity, using “relentless persistence without being aggravating” to develop relationships, enabling others to pursue a similar path to success. “I’m just following my convictions,” he says.

Bruce uses all of STEMTech's tools, and points out that the Business Development Training, toll-free TeleCenter, stemtechbiz.com and WealthBuilders, for example, are “very portable, customizable tools” that are right for any situation. He encourages prospects to come in with the Business Builder package, because it “clears a spot on the windshield,” he says, “so they can see what’s ahead and how to get there.” He adds, “If people knew how simple it is to succeed in this business with the tools we have, everybody would be doing this!” To new distributors just starting out, Bruce has simple advice: “Everyone in this company has the same products, and the company is well established in this industry, so the only difference is YOU and your belief system. Maintain a positive belief system, take action steps forward and you will succeed.”

Jacki Smith

*Diamond Director
Texas*

STEMTech distributors all over the United States have benefited from tuning in to the conference call Jacki has hosted weekly for eighteen months. During that time, Jacki says, “I’ve been building, but I have been so focused on helping people around the country that I didn’t spend as much time as I’d like working with my own group.”

In June, Jacki joined Izzy Matos and other top field leaders – including Dan and Rebecca Lovelace, “my tireless and dedicated personal support team,” Jacki says -- for the Grand Junction, Colorado STEMTech Showcase hosted by Phyl Franklin. “After the meeting Izzy and I sat down together, and he said, ‘You’ve been concentrating on helping everybody else, but isn’t it time to focus on you? Grow your team. Then go back and help others.’ It was what George, Dr. Donna, Bryan and Dan and Rebecca have been telling me for a long time, so it was time I listened!” Back in Texas, Jacki “got bizzy” (as Izzy is urging distributors here and abroad), and she is building her own organization again, as she showed everyone by winning a STEMTech flashdrive for enrollments with the August Monthly Contest. And because “it’s just in my nature,” she has continued her Saturday morning training calls for people wanting to achieve Director and above.

Working with renewed vigor, Jacki reflects, “I realize now more than ever what’s so different about STEMTech... After twenty-four years in network marketing, this is the first time I have ever experienced a family atmosphere in a company. At STEMTech, we help each other and we inspire each other. This is one special STEMTech family we have!”

Marla Hartmann

*Twice’s Nice
Diamond Director
Minnesota*

It was only two weeks after Marla bought her first bottle of StemEnhance® from Kathy Hansen at a craft fair that she had the opportunity to hear about the product from its inventor, when Christian Drapeau came to town to do a meeting. Marla says, “I thought, ‘Wow! He is both very impressive and very down-to-earth.’ I immediately felt comfortable about the product and the company.”

Marla and her family began taking StemEnhance, and everyone reported good results. For example, “My daughter had trouble concentrating in school and she became less interested in her work,” Marla says, “but with StemEnhance, she has been able to concentrate, she is much happier and content with herself.” Marla began going to local meetings, learning all she could. “I had never been in network marketing before,” she says, “so I was not thinking of this as a business. I just wanted to share my story and those of my family.”

Since then, Marla says her business has grown nicely. “It just happens, if you share the goodness,” she says. She regularly implements what she has learned from all the STEMTech Conventions and Director Leadership Conferences she has attended, as well as local training. “I try very hard not to miss Bill and Caroline Lohmeyer’s weekly meeting and to bring a guest along, so they can hear the message for themselves. There is always something very valuable to learn.”

Brand-new Diamond Director Marla just recently opened her second consignment shop, so this mother of six is busier than ever. “It’s my own fault,” Marla admits with a smile. “Bill Lohmeyer asked me to write down a new goal I could achieve with my STEMTech income, and I wrote ‘Open another shop.’ Five and a half months later, here I am!”

stemtechbiz.com Your Connection Around the Corner & Around the World

Have you checked out the NEW stemtechbiz.com website? If you haven't, put down this HealthSpan for a moment, go to your computer and see what you have been missing! (We'll be right here when you get back.)

OK... so what do you think? The newly enhanced website, which went online August 1st, is quite a marvel... full of user-friendly features that bring the best of STEMTech to you and your recruits at the click of your mouse. Here are just a few of the most popular features:

- A global Home Page with easy navigation ... Just click on the country of your choice and select the language you want. There are also links to Virtual SignUp (markets that are not yet open) and to Retail Direct for those in the European Union.
- When you reach your country's Home Page, you see an exciting fresh look and links to so many choices... compelling Product and Opportunity videos, the groundbreaking StemEnhance® Study, News, Events and more, including links to order or join, of course!
- When your prospects click "Join & Save" or "Get Started Now," they are taken to a pre-enrollment page where they can see all the enrollment options, including details of each kit before they sign up!

Our new stemtechbiz.com website is the ultimate in one-stop shopping and recruiting! Here's what some STEMTech distributors have to say about stemtechbiz.com (stemtechbiz.ca in Canada):

"I LOVE the new website, and talk about a time and postage saver! No more mailing DVD's all over the place. People can get ALL the information they need right off the website -- from the videos to the studies. The sign-up process is so much clearer, and I have heard numerous comments about how nice it is to have the breakdown of what is included in each package right there at the fingertips! It's awesome and very professional!"

Shari Bigalk, Diamond Director

"I love the new look and all the extra information on stemtechbiz.ca, such as the DVD's. Now I don't need to send prospects to several sites...this one has it all! And best of all, I can tell them that they, too, will get this same website with any of our packages, beginning with the FastStart."

Viola Toews, Triple Diamond Director

"We appreciate the upgrades on stemtechbiz.com. It is extremely easy to send anyone to our site who wishes to order retail or join, or who needs more information. We tell people to click on WATCH THE VIDEO & READ MORE to find out the scoop about the products and opportunity. So easy to navigate!"

Marge Berger & Rebecca Reverie, Sapphire Directors

"Everyone we have sent to our new site comes back with "WOW!" They all want the site. It makes joining with a FastStart easier than ever. It's so great having all the package choices right up front to view. Great JOB!"

Dan & Rebecca Lovelace, Triple Diamond Directors

"This new website is like having our video library right there in front of our new prospects - here at home and anywhere in the world. All they have to do is pick and choose what they want to look at and learn. We all wish we would have had stemtechbiz.com from the first day we started, but are thrilled that our new distributors do have it from their first days!"

Denny & Merlie Kluver, Triple Diamond Directors

"I found the new stemtechbiz.ca website very helpful because the short video about StemEnhance and stem cell science is right there. It is so easy to access, perfect for sharing with local people one-on-one and with others many miles away."

Mary Peters, Diamond Director

"Our new stemtechbiz.com website is a huge bonus for our team members, because it serves virtually every need we can think of. I love it! What I enjoy most about the site, apart from its new, fresh look, is that it embodies everything we need in one spot. It has the great videos from our WealthBuilders site, all the updated info, and an easy-to-navigate feel. It has such a clean design that there is literally NO learning curve for first-time visitors. But I believe that its greatest feature is that it truly allows our distributors to 'get out of the way,' to become the messenger and NOT the message. If you can send people to stemtechbiz.com, you can build. What can be easier than that?"

Izzy & Lori Matos, Triple Diamond Directors

"It's beautiful, streamlined, efficient, and it leads prospects to empower themselves to make an educated decision. I love it! Thanks, STEMTech, for this great upgrade to our site."

Anna Gallman, Triple Diamond Director

"The new stemtechbiz.com website is awesome! We have a state-of-the-art product, and now we have the perfect match with a state-of-the-art WEBSITE!"

Dr. Enrique Martinez, Triple Diamond Director

"STEMTech's commitment to develop quality tools, training and presentations for its distributor base over the last three years is second-to-none. The newly designed stemtechbiz.com site is comprehensive, clean, attractive and fully functional. stemtechbiz.com completes the package. Fabulous enhancement!"

Bruce Higgins, Triple Diamond Director

"I am very impressed by all of the material that is offered on this site. What I am hearing from not only new prospects, but also others in my downline is how much information there is available on just this one site. It's super and helps tremendously. A huge thank-you!"

Maxine Jensen, Diamond Director

"The new web-site is awesome! The movie to watch about StemEnhance is right there in front of you, very easy to access. All the options to sign up are clear to see, so the person can make an informed decision. The stemtechbiz.ca site looks very professional. It is a top notch site."

Lena Schultz, Triple Diamond Director

"I love the simplicity of stemtechbiz.com. I give new prospects my website and feel confident that they'll have most of their questions answered. I make a few suggestions of what look for and tell them they can sign up right there. I have had great comments on how easy it is to do this business. So..... Keep it simple so you can duplicate!"

Kathy Hansen, Triple Diamond Director

"What do I think about stemtechbiz.com? I do like it a lot! The site is attractive and informative immediately, and I'm able to access pages quickly. The response from my team is consistent: NICE JOB!"

Marla Hartmann, Ruby Director

"The website now available is a DREAM COME TRUE...for any business builder with STEMTech. The simplicity of the site and the informative videos can take ANYONE from a "MLM window shopper" to a Builder on fire. To have ONE place to direct our contacts is a perfect system."

Lisa Hill, Ruby Director

"One of the best outcomes from stemtechbiz.com is how it has created new excitement with in the whole STEMTech family. Everybody is talking about it! The site has given us a tool in the Field to be proud of and to have confidence that it is going to do the job of explaining our amazing product and our incredible business opportunity. Oh yeah, and did I mention how user-friendly it is and the colors? Wow!"

Stephen W. "Murf" Murphy, Sapphire Director

Well, that's all we have room for, but we're sure you get the idea... STEMTech has done it again! Your connection to your neighborhood and the world is only a click away.

stemtechbiz.com is a hit!

Four Continents in Four

In another whirlwind of preparations, travel and exciting events, STEMTech has expanded our Global Family to include four new markets. Beginning with the exciting Launch of South Africa in late July, Ray, Christian, STEMTech Executives, top Field Leaders and senior staff members logged a lot of air miles and even more work hours to make sure the celebrations with our Global Distributors in four corners of the world came off just right. It has been a busy and exhilarating four months!

South Africa

by Errol Lester, VP/African Markets

The Official Launch of STEMTech Africa in South Africa took place on Saturday, July 25th in Johannesburg. Three hundred and twenty eager Distributors were happy to attend and be a part of this wonderful occasion.

The program was full of excitement! Our South African Distributors, who have been working enthusiastically with StemEnhance™ for nearly two years, enjoyed the introduction of StemFLO™, StemSPORT™, StemEquine™ and StemPets™, which are now available to them in South Africa. Making part of his presentation in Afrikaans, Ray Carter shared the stage with Christian Drapeau, Heather Livingston and Triple Diamond Izzy Matos, each speaking to the appreciative crowd. We also had a well-known guest speaker, international marathon runner and South African sports icon, Bruce Fordyce, who is an enthusiastic user of StemEnhance (and now StemSPORT). Introduced at the event was the Launch Edition of HealthSpan Africa, which was both a surprise for our Distributors and a really big hit. Distributors who attended the official Launch were very inspired by it all, and we have seen a very positive effect on recruiting and sales ever since.

After the Johannesburg Launch, Heather Livingston and Izzy Matos spoke at a round of meetings throughout the countryside that had been arranged by our South African office. At each of these well-attended meetings, Distributors and their guests did not hold back their enthusiasm for the opportunity to hear from two such dynamic and knowledgeable speakers. All of us in the South African operation are very grateful that Heather and Izzy were willing to “go the extra mile” to support our growth in the South African market.

In neighboring Namibia I am working hard to ensure that this enthusiastic market will be open for business in its own right very soon. And now I am working on arrangements with officials in a few other African countries where there is a real interest in our products. We have made considerable progress in Ivory Coast and will soon be able to decide on a Pre-Launch date in that Northwest African nation.

Europe and “Dow

by Andy Goodwin, VP/European Markets

Germany

In Buttleborn (near Frankfurt) on a beautiful sunny day in mid-July, a gathering of people from Germany and elsewhere in Europe heard what they had come to hear: that STEMTech Germany is open for business! As we have come to expect from our increasingly multi-lingual CEO, Ray Carter made his presentation entirely in German, as did VP of Operations John W. Meyer... and the crowd was delighted. Translations for other presentations were provided by top local distributor Helmut Schmidt and Romy Sigush, a native German now working in the UK office. Regardless of the communications method, the message about the STEMTech products and opportunity was definitely achieved, as evidenced by the surge in sales in Germany, which more than doubled during the following month.

To support growth in the German market, the stemtechbiz.de website is provided in German, and the Distributor Kit and sales materials are in German. Who do you know in Germany? Now is a great time to contact them, send them to the website for first-class information on our products and opportunity, and get started building your German team!

Months STEMTech celebrates a Launch in South Africa, and Pre-Launches in Germany, The Philippines, Australia and New Zealand

Down Under”

Australia & New Zealand

As we go to press with this issue of HealthSpan, we are gathering eager New Zealanders to our meetings in Wellington and Auckland. Then we'll hop across the Tasman Sea to meet with our Australian distributors and their guests, all of whom are very excited that STEMTech is open Down Under at last! We know that our meetings in Sydney and Brisbane are sure to give Ray, Christian and Triple Diamond Izzy Matos a rousing welcome. (And Ray doesn't even need to learn another language for these STEMTech openings!)

Become part of the excitement in Australia and New Zealand... Take your distributors and prospects to the global stemtechbiz.com home page and click on the applicable links so you can join in the expansion of STEMTech to a new part of the world. Australia and New Zealand are both virgin territory for StemEnhance and there's no "language barrier," so the time is NOW to make contact!

Asia

by Jonathan Lim, VP/Asian Markets

You can feel the excitement in the air... At last, to Filipinos all across this beautiful island nation, the moment has come to celebrate. STEMTech has come to the Philippines and we are open for business!

At the Pre-Launch on September 19th, everything began with the ribbon-cutting ceremony at the new STEMTech Philippines office. Following the ceremony, we all made our way to the fabulous InterContinental Hotel in Makati City. There hundreds of excited "pending" distributors and their guests filled the huge Grand Ballroom for a program that included a performance of Philippine cultural dance by a college dance troupe and inspiring presentations by Ray Carter (with a selected segment in Tagalog, a local native language) and by Christian Drapeau. It was my privilege to share the stage with Ray and Christian, and with some of our top Triple Diamonds who traveled from the US and Malaysia to join the celebration and share their testimonies.

At training on September 20, our now Active Filipino Distributors listened intently when Ray, Christian, Malaysian GM Benjamin Yap and GM of Global Distributor Services Brianne Rogers shared the platform with me, as we brought the large group up to speed on how to share StemEnhance and build a business, using STEMTech's wide selection of tools. Since Filipinos generally converse easily in English and they were eager to "learn everything," there was a lot of productive interaction between the visiting trainers and the distributors during the entire day.

Now it is your turn... Please join us in developing the Filipino market. There are 92 million people living in The Philippines, and every one of them needs StemEnhance. Make a contact today!

PHILIPPINES

The Philippines has the potential for setting unprecedented records for STEMTech's global family. This year I enjoyed meeting with large numbers of Virtual Distributors in Manila, and they have been a diverse group of enthusiastic STEMTech supporters... housewives, business people and physicians, as well as highly-placed politicians, including popular Congresswoman Lorna Silverio, the City Mayor and Assembly representatives. Triple Diamond George Gorostiza and his wife Cherry, who have relocated from the US to these islands, spent months working tirelessly, setting up introductory meetings all over the Philippines – and helping to take this nation to #1 in Virtual enrollments. All this was in preparation for the exciting Pre-Launch held on September 19, where over 500 people celebrated the opening of STEMTech and the newly "active" status for the Philippines Distributors. What a fabulous event it was!

Join the Asian Virtual Enrollment excitement. Contact people you know in Indonesia and other Asian nations. There are billions of people in Asia waiting to hear from you about StemEnhance!

TAIWAN

We took advantage of Christian's travel to Asia for the Philippines Pre-Launch, enticing him to stop over in Taiwan to meet with doctors and interns at the prestigious Medical University of Taiwan and to present a training seminar for our Distributors in Taipei, where we also showed a video presentation by Ray, who spoke in Taiwanese, Mandarin and English! Interest in business building has grown as we have provided excellent training for our distributors, and have encouraged their enrollment of FastStart Distributors with a luxury resort spa weekend for top enrollers of Business Builders.

MALAYSIA

Sales and recruiting in Malaysia have been going through the roof! Weekly meetings draw dozens of Distributors and their guests, and the Kuala Lumpur office is a frequent stopover for our distributors on a daily basis. The very enthusiastic Malaysian leaders joined us in the Philippines to congratulate the newest Asian country to welcome STEMTech and to share their valuable experience and testimonies.

The Americas

Western Hemisphere Update

Back in the Western Hemisphere, STEMTech continues to see consistent growth, fueled by the excitement that we are here, where it all began! Distributors in North America, Central America and South America are making 2009 a Year to Remember... with significant sales increases in new areas, a surge in interest in local and regional training events, and a new passion for enrollments.

North America

by George Antarr, VP/North American Markets

Throughout the pages of this magazine, you can see what is exciting these days in the United States... New Triple Diamonds, our growing StemGem Team, a spectacular new stemtechbiz.com website, as well as new, professionally designed and produced StemEnhance® brochures, exciting monthly enrollment contests, and a baker's dozen of Distributors whose STEMTech Stories are both edifying and inspiring.

With this issue of HealthSpan, we are very pleased to present the first update article from our new General Manager for STEMTech Canada, Jonathan Lester, who brings to the table a solid background in management on the global stage, as well as a lifetime of network marketing knowledge. Jonathan is a top-notch addition to our STEMTech Executive Team.

Canada

by Jonathan Lester, General Manager

After an idyllic summer in beautiful British Columbia, we head into fall refreshed and with renewed vigor. We have seen the first signs that the economic frost is starting to thaw. Stability and confidence are returning to communities damaged by recent events and, while there is undeniably a long way to go, I believe we have turned the corner. This is a fabulous opportunity for us to bring the STEMTech opportunity to people wishing to change their lives.

This being the case, we spent the summer months putting the necessary building blocks in place to support a period of sustained growth. We launched the new website, stemtechbiz.ca, added a full complement of French marketing support materials to our warehouse, and planned a series of field events for the rest of the year. In the first of these events, we have been pleased to bring the wonderful "Get Bizzy with Izzy" Tour to Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg. We also significantly upgraded our telephone and call center systems in order to allow us to serve distributors more efficiently and effectively. This month we expect a good Canadian contingent at the Director Leadership Conference, and then next month we will be hosting corporate events in the Greater Toronto Area.

It has been a pleasure and privilege for me to meet or speak with many of our distributors and field leaders since coming on board in late July. I am confident that we share a common vision for STEMTech Canada. We are all very proud that STEMTech Canada was the pioneer in STEMTech's global expansion. It is certainly our intention for STEMTech Canada to remain the shining jewel in the international crown. It is a big challenge, but one that my dedicated team and I look forward to with enthusiasm... and with just a little impatience!

Latin America

Mexico

by Oscar Rosas, VP/Latin American Markets

Following two highly successful training tours throughout Mexico during the summer - the five-city "Get Bizzy with Izzy" training tour with Izzy Matos and our three-city Multiply coaching tour with internationally recognized motivational speaker Omar Villalobos -- STEMTech distributors everywhere in Mexico are working to build as never before. While General Manager Juan Carlos Saucedo works with local leaders to put the finishing touches on our exciting Launch Celebration, the wave of enthusiasm is surging all across the nation. We hope that many of you will be joining Ray, Christian, STEMTech Executives, top Field Leaders and the rest of us at the beautiful Guadalajara Hilton on October 24th for a fabulous event full of exciting announcements, inspiring guests and fun.

Colombia

General Manager Monica Zamorano and I have supported the growth of business in Colombia with well-received opportunity and training meetings, which have been duplicated by Field Leaders in Cali and Medellin. Monica has also worked hard to implement the Colombian PAY CARD program for all Colombian distributors. Distributor commissions and bonuses will be transferred to this CARD, which functions like a debit card, allowing Distributors to withdraw their funds from ATM machines and also use their CARD for purchases... whether they have bank accounts or not. This CARD will be a wonderful convenience for Colombian distributors!

Jamaica

In addition to our popular gKard (an International VISA debit card for commissions and bonuses), General Manager Gary Ingraham has introduced a convenient option for islanders who regularly commute past our headquarters in Kingston and who would like to pick up their AutoShip (saving shipping costs).

Coming Next

We have been closely following the action in several Latin American and Caribbean countries that are making their mark in our Virtual Enrollment site. As I work to complete the lengthy, tedious and expensive process to register our product and company in Brazil, I am also making good progress in Trinidad & Tobago and in Ecuador, where we have seen a burst with virtual signups. I have been in constant touch with pending Field Leaders there who are excited to learn that STEMTech may be on the way soon. GRACIAS to our field leaders who are working hard contacting people and sharing our story and opportunity in these countries!

STEMTech stories

Rosa Espinell

Puerto Rico

Still very new to the business, Rosa Espinell is eagerly pursuing business building in Puerto Rico, as she reaches out to prospects in Florida, too. At home, Rosa prefers to share StemEnhance® and the STEMTech opportunity in home meetings, where she uses the “STEMTechBiz” DVD to explain about STEMTech's breakthrough products. “I tell my guests that it gives me great satisfaction to have the privilege to share with them a way they can enhance the quality of their lives,” she says, “and then I show them the DVD about this recent and important, revolutionary scientific discovery, StemEnhance.”

Since she first learned about StemEnhance at a home meeting hosted by Carlos Perez, Rosa has enjoyed an improved quality of life herself. “I have such increased energy,” she points out, “and I feel tired less often. Also, I no longer have challenges with my digestion, which I had experienced before StemEnhance.”

As she shares StemEnhance and her story with others, Rosa is grateful for the help of her upline, Joel Torres. She says, “He attends every meeting with me, calls me every day to encourage me, and congratulates me on every achievement I make.” Although she is still part-time with STEMTech, Rosa dedicates time daily for follow-up calls, scheduling appointments, updating her contact list and distributing STEMTech materials to prospects. At this rate, it won't be long before she's a StemGem!

Shari Bigalk

Washington

If you have ever thought about hosting a STEMTech booth, Shari Bigalk says that suburban and rural areas usually make hosting a booth at their events a very cost-efficient way to share STEMTech's products. “My first booths had only brochures and flyers with my name on them, no product,” she says, and she found that people remembered her and came over the next time, sometimes saying things like, “Everytime I see something on TV about stem cells, I think about you.” Shari says that was just perfect: “My goal,” she says, “is to get the information out there. Now when people come back to see me, I have product for them, but I'm still there primarily to share information about stem cells and our products and opportunity.”

To host a successful booth, Shari says, “Work with other distributors, so you can enjoy the time and share the leads you get. Use a banner hung at eye-level or above to attract people, and arrange brochures, Your Business at Home and HealthSpan magazines, keeping the table uncluttered. Fill empty product bottles with water (for weight) and make an attractive display.” Shari had a banner made for the front of her table that says, “What can adult stem cells do for you?” and says that this question attracts a lot of attention to her booth. Especially in the summer, visitors to her booth help themselves to ice water from a cooler -- a nice, friendly touch. Always keeping things “non-confrontational,” Shari has a clipboard where she asks for interested visitors to leave their name and email address. “Then I contact them and send them a link to the new stemtechbiz.com website,” she says, “and we go from there.” Shari says an important lesson is this: “Learn to listen, and have fun with it! If people see you are having fun with a product or business, they will want to join and have fun, too!”

Marge Berger & Rebecca Reverie

PermaHealth, Inc.

Florida & Pennsylvania

This mother and daughter team works their business together, even though they live more than 1000 miles apart. In her Florida retirement neighborhood, Marge says, "Many retired wives have given up cooking. So I invite them over to enjoy my special homemade pizza and watch the 'STEMTech Biz' DVD. They say, 'Where can I get this product?' and sign up!" Rebecca's primary target group is very different from her mother's. A well-known baker in her suburban area and the mother of four teens, Rebecca says, "People in this area are busy with their kids and money is tight. So often I approach them with StemPets® first. When people see the product work on a beloved pet who's lost his playfulness, they will try StemEnhance® themselves and sign up!" Both ladies' methods have borne fruit... including a STEMTech flashdrive won in the August Enrollment Contest!

Marge has had an online marketing business for years, so "STEMTech's stemtechbiz.com site is a natural fit for the way I do business," she says. She also advertises STEMTech when she goes to the gym each day, wearing her StemSPORT™ shirt and carrying the StemSPORT water bottle. "When people ask me how I stay in shape, I tell them that StemSPORT is a great contributor to my successful workouts and quick recovery. Then I give them a brochure, and we go from there!"

Both Marge and Rebecca get to every STEMTech event they can. Rebecca says, "At the Convention, we like talking to people, learning their stories about StemEnhance. And when I went to Christian's book-signing in New York, that really lit a fire under me. He is so inspiring!"

Tony Dupuis

Washington

In many ways a Renaissance Man, Tony Dupuis applies his talents to his regular job tending a boiler for Boise Cascade, while he also paints, sculpts and creates original wedding cakes. Although he was skeptical when his good friend Shari Bigalk told him about StemEnhance, she persisted, so he bought the FastStart Pack and started taking StemEnhance. "Within a couple of weeks my 'weather indicator' – an ankle broken in an accident twelve years ago – stopped letting me know when it was going to rain," he says. "It had always bothered me a lot on those days, so I knew StemEnhance was for real."

Still "very part-time," Tony sees his STEMTech business as future security, as the timber industry in the Northwest continues to scale back. He is learning to use STEMTech's tools, and says all are top-quality. Tony says, "When I meet people, I give them a brochure and have them watch the videos on stemtechbiz.com [steps 1 & 2]. Then I call, answer questions and invite them to Step 3." He explains that with local prospects, "the tool I like to use for Step 3 is the new tabletop flip chart. Then I hand them the Step 4 pages of how to enroll. It's so simple!"

Tony has made it his business to attend every local corporate-sponsored event. "Listening to Christian explain about StemEnhance science at his book-signing was awesome," he says, "and I learned from George and Dr. Donna's Super Saturday that I don't have to try to be an expert... just do what people can duplicate. Then Izzy Matos [pictured with Tony] and his 'Get Bizzy with Izzy' training made the comp plan and everything so simple. I learned so much while I was laughing my head off! I don't plan to miss any STEMTech event. They are terrific!"

Ruta Staniukyniene

Illinois

Since she came to the United States from her native Lithuania in 1999, Ruta has worked as a housekeeper for one family. While she still enjoys both the family and the work, Ruta says, "I have wanted something more." So when her best friend Eugenija Paulauskiene suggested that they both try out StemEnhance and the STEMTech opportunity, Ruta agreed, and both she and her daughter Martyna Staniukynaite [pictured with Ruta], joined Eugenija in purchasing FastStart Packs.

Within a short time, one thing became clear to Ruta: "StemEnhance was working for me... I have more energy, my mind is bright, and I feel like I can go, go, go!" she says, adding that the frequent pounding in her chest that she used to have with exertion is now gone. She also realized something else: "I had to upgrade to the Director Pack, because I needed inventory for all the people in our Lithuanian community who wanted StemEnhance!" In mid-August, Ruta hosted a large, well-advertised meeting in Chicago with the help of Ed Budreika and Tom Goff. "We enrolled many new distributors as a result of that meeting," she says, pointing with pride to the STEMTech flashdrive she won in August's contest. And when the "2-for-1 Special" was announced, Ruta snapped up 100 of the new StemEnhance brochures. "It was such a good deal!" she says.

"This is just the beginning for me," Ruta says, admitting that she has a personal reason to succeed: "I want to prove to my husband Rutenis that I can help people and make money with this company. I know I will!"

Richard Bier

California

Eight years ago, avid competitive racquetball player Richard Bier suddenly lost the vision in one eye, and the aftermath of this loss was a huge wake-up call for him. “When no one was able to help me with my eyesight,” he says, “I realized I needed to be in control of my own wellness. So I began investing in being healthy, monitoring my body carefully with the help of a healthcare professional in the anti-aging field.”

As the owner of a corporate and private aircraft catering company, as well as a musician and handler of special events for clients, Richard says he was not looking for more to do when a friend from church, Rodney Guenther, told him about StemEnhance®. By that time, his healthy lifestyle had helped his eyesight to return to “about 80%,” he says, “and since StemEnhance, I feel that colors appear more vivid and images are clearer. I’m back on the racquetball court, too, enjoying improved endurance that lets me play for two hours and then lift weights!”

With the help from his “go-to guy,” Tom Goff, Richard is building a business. At the gym and with business associates, Richard introduces the StemSPORT™ concept first, explaining, “Once people see how much better their energy level and endurance are, and how much faster they recover, they want these products. And if price becomes an issue for anybody,” Richard says, “that’s when I can show them how to get their product for free... with the STEMTech opportunity!”

Rosanne Freeman

New York

Artist, muralist and musician Rosanne Freeman says she was feeling overwhelmed by the demands of her busy life, which include caring for her mother, an Alzheimer's patient. Then Dr. Mary Ozegovich told Rosanne how StemEnhance had helped her. “Mary is a trusted friend,” Rosanne says, “so I knew that she would only be involved with a natural product and a company with integrity. I agreed to try StemEnhance.”

Right off the bat, Rosanne says she felt “great energy, a ‘much better’ feeling,” she explains, adding, “and I felt enthusiastic instead of feeling so overwhelmed.” She knew then that she had to tell people about StemEnhance, but there was a problem: “I tried to tone down my excitement,” she says, “but I couldn’t help myself!” She and Dr. Mary have co-hosted home meetings to share their stories, and Izzy Matos helps with some of their get-togethers. “When Izzy is involved,” Rosanne says, “It’s a whole different thing... His experience, his knowledge, and his humor make any meeting one to remember!”

Rosanne says she never thought an artistic person like herself would ever be involved in a “business,” but she says that “STEMTech appeals to my own sense of integrity.” Now it is a mission for her to “share as much good as possible.” She explains that her STEMTech business venture is not all that different from her creative career: “When I perform, paint or play music, I want people to feel better because of what I do. With STEMTech, it’s the same... With our products and opportunity, I’m helping people enjoy a better quality of life!”

Gary Resch

Minnesota

Gary's story will sound very familiar to many of you: After his best friend Tony Werlinger introduced Gary to StemEnhance a year and a half ago, Gary took the product for four months, hoping it would help his body reverse a multitude of daily physical challenges, from the inability to hold onto a cup of coffee or to look over his shoulder, to swelling in his legs, to stomach and hearing problems. “But I was really hoping to get back my sense of smell,” he says. “Since having surgery years ago, I’ve been able to smell only the really strong, bad odors.” During his four months on StemEnhance, “Everybody told me I was crazy to think it could help me do anything for all my problems,” Gary says, “so I stopped taking it.”

Within a few weeks, Gary was feeling worse than ever. What to do? “Tony said the best idea was to go back on StemEnhance,” Gary says, “so I gave it another try, this time adding StemFLO®.” And Gary noticed improvements - dramatic and subtle - that began within weeks. “My deep muscle cramping went away first, so I could hold my coffee again,” he says, and within six weeks the swelling in his legs was gone. Soon his stomach felt better, and he could look over his shoulder again. “But the best news is that my sense of smell is coming back... I’d say it’s about 2/3 of normal now, and seeming to improve all the time.” Gary also reports improved strength and stamina, and that the “daily snowstorm” that used to occur when he brushed his hair or eyebrows is gone. Needless to say, he is now passionate about sharing STEMTech products with others. He tells his story in home meetings, sharing a valuable lesson: “Don’t listen to negative comments from people. Give your body the time it needs to renew with help from these amazing products. I am so glad I gave my body a second chance!”
